We need your support

HERBALIFE

FAMILY FOUNDATION.

Hundreds of thousands of families have been forced to flee their homes as the result of a week of heavy rains flooded over 80 percent of the state of Tabasco, Mexico. The Herbalife Family Foundation is helping the victims of this natural disaster by collecting donations that will support disaster relief efforts in the region, providing essential aid for children in need.

President Felipe Calderon has called the flooding in Tabasco state one of Mexico's worst natural disasters in several decades and news sources are reporting that the state capital, Villahermosa, bares a sobering resemblance to New Orleans following the wrath of Hurricane Katrina.

Extensive damage has been reported to housing, roads, bridges, schools and hospitals. Food and clean drinking water have been extremely scarce in Tabasco state and warnings of possible outbreaks of cholera and other waterborne diseases are cause for great concern.

How you can help

Herbalife Family Foundation will make a donation to Save the Children for their effort in Mexico and has established a SKU to receive donations from distributors that are willing to support this effort. Save the Children's response is focused on meeting the immediate needs of displaced children and families, including clean water, food and shelter. Save the Children has been working in Mexico for nearly 40 years and is part of the Save the Children Alliance which works in more than 100 countries, responding to humanitarian crises.

Employees will be given the opportunity to support this relief effort by giving directly to HFF through Cash, check, credit card, and one time payroll deduction. All funds collected will be sent directly to Save the Children for their relief effort.
